EF SOLARE: ANDREA GHISELLI IS THE NEW CEO

Trento, October 12, 2020 – The Board of Directors of EF Solare, which is the first photovoltaic operator in Italy and one of the leading in Europe, has appointed Andrea Ghiselli Chief Executive Officer with the aim of strengthening the leadership position in Italy and promoting the international growth.

Andrea Ghiselli, after a significant experience in strategic consulting at McKinsey, has progressively focused his activity in the energy and transports infrastructure sectors working in A2A and in SEA Milan Airports. In these areas he has held roles as Director of Business Support Solutions and Director of Supply Chain, ICT and Innovation, leading cross-cutting programs and interventions focused on improving operational effectiveness and efficiency and business processes. He also held the role of Director at A2A Logistics and Board of Directors member at Airport Handling.

The Board of Directors of EF Solare would like to express its warm thanks to Diego Percopo for the work he has done over the last 11 years, during which he has guided the Group's evolution from startup to leader in the solar sector, demonstrating great entrepreneurial and managerial skills.

EF Solare Italia

With more than 300 plants and a capacity of more than 1,800 MW between operative plants and under development ones, EF Solare Italia is the leading photovoltaic operator in Italy and among the leading in Europe. It positions itself as a technological leader to drive the growth of the solar sector through operational excellence, innovation and the development of new plants. The sole shareholder is F2i – Fondi Italiani per le Infrastrutture, the largest infrastructure fund active in Italy.
